

I have been disturbed by the support that FCC rulings have given to large media company. The latest move by Sinclair Broadcasting to show an anti-Kerry documentary is perhaps a dangerous sign of things to come.

I would ask the Commissioners to consider the threat that this action is to Americans in the present moment, but especially for the children of tomorrow. I myself would not like to be considered a member of the generation that brought Big Brother to life. I would think that the Commissioners would not like to be seen as the reason for this in the days to come.

I understand that Sinclair and other companies use the our airwaves free of charge. I don't understand what gives them the right to abuse that freedom.
